How clever is your brain? Perception Tests
February 2nd, 2011 | 0 Comments | 0 Tweet | 0 | 0 Recommended | 0 | 0 Share

This week we’ll speak neuroscientists to Stephen MacKinnon and Siara Wehrman-Orchard was this magazine exploit the brain to their titles. A little bit to do with perception and how we keep our robots.

Try this test for size – Count the number of times the basketball is passed between white shirts.

And this one:

What's unusual about this image?

Because of Attention bias, we sometimes don't notice even the most obvious of changes.
